Boustead aims to sell more plantation assets to Islamic REIT

■ By Kamarul Yunus

BOUSTEAD Holdings Bhd plans to sell more plantation assets to its Islamic real estate investment trust (REIT), the country's first Islamic plantation REIT.

Its managing director Tan Sri Lodin Wok Kamaruddin said this will be confined to oil palm estates, including its plantations in Lapan Kabu, Kelantan.

"As the group's total plantation portfolio is currently in excess of RM1 billion, this will enhance the prospects of the REIT," he told reporters after the launch of the prospectus for Al-Hadharah Boustead REIT by Second Finance Minister Tan Sri Nor Mohamed Yakcop in Kuala Lumpur yesterday.

The actual size of assets to be sold to the REIT will be decided at a later date.

Nor Mohamed (right) being briefed by Lodin at the launch of the prospectus. Looking on is Boustead chairman Jen. (B) Tan Sri Ghazali Che Mat.

Lodin also said that the company's revenue this year would not be affected by the floods that have occurred in some states in the country, particularly in Johor.

"We have estates in Kota Tinggi, but our estates are mostly in high areas.

"But based on our assessment, it (flood) is not going to impact our revenue for this year," he said.

Boustead plans to raise some RM230 million from the initial public offering of Al-Hadharah Boustead REIT.

It is offering 20 million issue units to retail investors at 99 sen per unit. Institutional investors are offered 198 million units at RM1.05 apiece.

"Al-Hadharah Boustead REIT offers investors a unique and affordable opportunity to invest in the highly active and dynamic plantation sector," Lodin said.
